MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

It is with pleasure that I would like to welcome you to this publication of the Market Price Index after a one year absence due to reasons beyond my control. The market price index, with funding support from UNDP, provides me with an opportunity to publish indicative prices for the commonly procured goods by public entities. The prices are published after conducting a thorough market research process involving a sample of highly reputable suppliers.

My expectation, therefore, is that the Procurement Officers and officers sitting on various IPC meetings will make deliberate effort to use the Market Price Index as reference point. The goods included herein are those which are commonly procured by various public procuring entities for the Government of Malawi. In this regard it will be very surprising to have prices deviating significantly from the published prices in the index.

Let me take this opportunity to commend those procuring entities which have so far established a list of preferred suppliers through a competitive process. Locking in suppliers on fixed prices for a longer period would not only help you to smoothly execute the procurement plans but it will also help to save the meager government resources. I would therefore strongly urge you to desist from entertaining frequent requests from suppliers to adjust prices on pretext of increasing costs. I will not be entertaining such frequent requests to approve new prices because it defeats the whole purpose of having such forward contracts.

This being a new publication in a new year I hope it will set a good pace to strongly guard against profiteering. I have no doubt that it is the wish of all officers involved in the public procurement process to fulfill His Excellency, President Ngwazi Dr. Bingu Wa Mutharika wish, of making sure that government resources are channeled to appropriate development programs. Obtaining the correct prices is one way of achieving such a mandate. With passing time I will be expanding the categories to be covered in this booklet and I am calling for your input on those areas you would like further market research to be conducted. I am wishing you a rewarding and prosperous new year of 2009.

B. S.M. Mangulama
Director of Public Procurement

CALLING FOR FEED BACK

For this publication to be truly user friendly we are calling on you the users to submit proposals on categories which you would like us to carry on further market research. The Director of Public Procurement is therefore calling upon your support to make sure that this publication lives according to your expectation.

Written suggestions to the Director can be sent by post or email indicated on the cover page. You are also free to contact the ODPP's Market Analyst, Tambulani Chunga by Email: tchung@odpp.gov.mw or Phone: 265 1 789 098 or Cell: +265 9 560 389. Controlling Officers are specifically urged to do so because we know you are always busy and you really need a tool to help you in monitoring of prices as you serve on various IPC meetings.

BACK PAGE STANDARD MESSAGE

About the Office of Director of Public Procurement

The Office of director of Public Procurement (ODPP) is one of the five autonomous State institutions for governance and it was established to oversee and monitor all public sector procurement activities.

Up to about 2000, public procurement in the Central Government was the responsibility of Central Government Stores (CGS) and Central Tender Board (CTB). Procurement activities under the responsibility of the two institutions were noted to be poorly done resulting in huge losses of government revenue.

In view of this, the then Head of state, in the Millennium Speech of 31 December 1999, directed that all public procurement be done through his office (OPC). By that time, Government Contracting-Out Unit (GCU) and Rationalization Unit (RU) were already established in the OPC. GCU was established with the sole purpose of contracting-out non-core Government services. It was therefore, given the task of approving all major contracts and administering Interim Procurement Guidelines OPC developed. It also managed the public procurement reforms under Fiscal Restructuring and Deregulation Project (FRDP). CTB was dissolved in 2001 and all its functions were split between GCU and Government Ministries and Departments.

The GCU carried out its responsibilities until 2003 when the Public Procurement Act (PPA) was passed. The enactment of the public procurement law was as a result of a 1996 diagnostic study conducted under the Procurement and supply Management Reform Program. The ODPP was then established in April 2004 under section 4 of the Act to champion the establishment of a strong procurement management process in the public sector and respond to glaring problems identified in the diagnostic study.

Does the ODPP Purchase Goods, Works and services for the Government?

No. The role of ODPP is not purchasing goods and services for the government but to provide oversight in all public procurement in the country.

The Office of director of Public Procurement, is not supposed to be operationally involved in procurement which is the responsibility of controlling officers for ministries, departments and statutory corporations assisted by the Internal Procurement Committees (IPC) and Specialized Procurement Units (SPUs).
